HEALTHY ECOSYSTEMS IMPACT FUND

Healthy ecosystems are the starting point of life. They are fundamental for food security, climate change mitigation, poverty reduction and social stability, and more. This is why we invest in innovative impact companies that seek to conserve and restore our ecosystems while providing an attractive financial return. We have access to a robust pipeline of investment opportunities and world-class knowledge partners, due to our strategic location in the Netherlands. Dutch heritage shows a track record of being a hub for ecosystem restoration, with some of the top universities in this field located in our proximity.
